

GROWTH OF SALT LAKE SHOWN BY DIRECTORY

Volume for This Year Shows Population of 116,230 for City and Suburbs.

The new city directory will be ready for delivery tomorrow to R. L. Polk & Co., of the Deseret News building; Manager Cooper for R. L. Polk & Co., the publishers, says.

This volume contains by actual count 68,115 names—an increase of 1,942 over our 1908 volume. This does not include the names of firms or corporations, real estate or death notices. That Salt Lake City has grown steadily in population during the past year is hereby shown beyond a doubt. Using the number of 22,400 for the city (the directory publisher), we estimate the present population of Salt Lake City and the suburbs to be 116,230. We have for several years past made a complete and accurate canvass of all the suburbs, including Ft. Douglas, Murray, Sandy, West Jordan and Garfield, where we always obtain hundreds of names which will be included in the columns of this work, and which make it much more valuable as a book of reference than it would be, were we to leave out the suburbs and present to the public a directory containing the names of our citizens living within the city limits only. When these facts are taken into consideration, it can readily be accounted for any difference there may be between the figures of the United States so-called "official" census and those of our estimate as to the exact population.

The following table shows the number of individual names contained in Salt Lake City directories, and the increase in population (including the city of Murray and all the suburbs and suburban towns) from 1897 to 1909, inclusive:

Year.	No. of Names.	Population.
1897	24,804	74,412
1898	25,827	77,481
1899	26,469	79,389
1900	26,902	84,606
1901	29,216	87,643
1902	32,564	89,551
1903	35,137	91,782
1904	38,478	94,785
1905	40,430	96,974
1906	42,995	98,720
1907	52,561	105,123
1908	56,173	112,349

HE IS ON THE BETTER ROAD
So Says a Tramp After Enjoying a Repast of Chicken.

Even though he made a rather hurried leave-taking, an unknown tramp still showed his gallantry last night by leaving a note of appreciation for a chicken repast to which he had not been invited.

"My dear Friend, Mrs. J.—This bite of which I have partaken has given me new ambishun. Please look over my misgivings. A tramp on the Better Road."

This note left on the kitchen table in the roominghouse at 13½ east First South street, of which Mrs. Emma Johnson is the proprietress, was substantiated so far as the truthfulness of the "new ambishun." It was shown in his even wild desire to make his escape from the house, choosing as the better road the window of a bathroom and a fire escape.

The tramp had just finished his chicken dinner shortly after midnight and was leaving the hallway when he was discovered by Mrs. Johnson. When she raised an alarm the tramp took refuge in a bathroom, where thinking to corner him those outside locked the door. Then the police arrived on a hurry call, but the bird and chicken had fluttered through an open window leading to a fire escape.

WESTON ONLY AN ALSO RAN.
Alderman O'Donnell Uses His Feet to Good Advantage.

Councilman E. G. O'Donnell came to dire grief Saturday night and his friends are enjoying a good laugh at his expense, but Ed does not relish his experience, especially in view of the fact that he is suffering from a couple of blistered feet.

He has traveled some in his time and is extremely confident when making railway journeys, hence the trouble he encountered by being over-confident. O'Donnell had to go to Ogden Saturday to attend to his undertaking business, expecting to take the limited back to Salt Lake about 6 o'clock. The train was about an hour late and when Ed got to the depot he asked a policeman to direct him to the Salt Lake train. That policeman showed his qualification for membership on the Salt Lake force by sticking out two fingers, pointing in opposite directions, and grunting:

"There it is."

O'Donnell climbed into a car and immediately hunted up the most comfortable spot in the smoker. Taking off his hat and coat he lighted a cigar, propped up his feet and began to enjoy himself. When the conductor came along for tickets, Ed did not even look up. Just handed out the pastboard, but he was suddenly brought back to mundane affairs when the conductor informed him that the train was on the Union Pacific and was bound for Omaha.

"Oh-my-what?" yelled Ed. By this time he was five miles from Ogden. The train was stopped and O'Donnell permitted to get off. He tried to hire a wagon from a farmer to get back to Ogden but as the farmer's horses had been hauling a plow around a 40-acre lot all day, the farmer would not be bribed and poor O'Donnell had to "hoof it" back to the Junction City. He arrived there foot-sore and weary, cursing his hard luck in general and policemen in particular. He finally landed back in Salt Lake, but several hours late.

ARE NOW ON THE HILL.
Rose and Cummings Join Warden Pratt's Lockstep Club.

Under guard of Sheriff Sharp and Deputy Sheriff Steele, W. O. Rose and John H. Cummings, the self-confessed highwaymen, were taken to the state prison yesterday afternoon to begin the service of their imprisonment for the attempted robbery of Cashier D. F. Sweet.

Although sentenced to five years, if the men obey the prison rules and do not on their good behavior, they will be released Dec. 12, 1912, the merits for good conduct reducing the five year period to 20 months. Their sentence is equivalent to three years and four months.

The combination of the day and date, Friday the 23, proved the hoodoo for the two men who are thought to have been implicated in a number of the more recent daring hold-ups, and within 10 days after they had waylaid Cashier Sweet in the hallway of the Commercial club building, they were in the penitentiary.

Both Rose and Cummings were a cheery air on their way to the state prison yesterday, accepting the fate that the turn of the cards had brought. Since they had been caught they seemed anxious to begin their term as soon as possible so that, as Cummings expressed it, "we can get it over with and get out." They both assured Sheriff Sharp that they were going to be exemplary prisoners and earn all the merits possible.

SALOON PORTER ARRESTED.
Accused of the theft of $160 from the Goldfield saloon, on South Temple street, where he had formerly been employed as a porter, David Anthony was arrested last night by Police Sgt. Johnston and is held under a grand larceny charge. Anthony is alleged to have rifled the money drawer of the saloon last Saturday, but secured little cash as the money was largely in the form of checks. Some of the checks were found on Anthony when arrested, and the torn bits of another check were found in a rear room where he had thumbed them.

Negress Falls to Understand What a Floater Means.

Stella Linkfelt, a negress, failed to understand the real meaning of a "floater," and will spend the next 100 days in thinking it over. The woman is one of the undesirable characters whom the police would like to drive from the city. She was arrested recently on a vagrancy charge, and given the opportunity to leave the city under a suspended sentence of 100 days. She ignored the order to leave and last night was found on the streets by Patrolman Griffiths and re-arrested.

STRINGING WIRE ON THE BAMBERGER LINE

Electrification of the Salt Lake & Ogden Railroad to be Completed By November.

"The electrification of the Salt Lake & Ogden railroad will be completed in November," said Simon Bamberger, president of the road, this morning. "The material, consisting of poles, trolley wires, cross spans, clamps, feeders, telephone wires, etc., is all ready to place in position. Moreover, it is all paid for, and just as soon as the work can be accomplished the wires will be strung and the work completed."

"Most of the poles for the line have already been set. Along the line between towns the poles are in position, and in most of the villages and towns the work of setting the poles in concrete has been completed. We expect to begin work stringing wire today."

"The first wire will be strung from Laegon north to Ogden, as there is less traffic on that end of the line during the summer resort season. A train carrying the wire and equipment will accompany the party of men working on the line, and the wire will be lifted from the train and placed in position at the same time."

"We expect to complete the work in 50 days, and early in November everything should be in readiness to receive the equipment and to commence operating the electric cars. There will be no motor cars and trailers sufficient to handle all business. These cars have been ordered for delivery the middle of August so that they will be here in ample time to be placed in service immediately upon the completion of the electrification of the line."

STRUCK BY STREET CAR.
W. J. Pugh, residing at 854 Second East street, was slightly injured Saturday night by being struck and thrown to the pavement by a street car. Mr. Pugh was crossing the street at the intersection of Third South and State streets at the time of the accident. He had misjudged the distance of the approaching car, which, however, was moving slowly at the time, and Pugh escaped with a few bruises and a severe shaking up.

WOMAN FORGER BOBS UP AGAIN IN DENVER

Saturday Night Operator Turns a Few Tricks in Queen City and Moves on Again.

With her new and original twist to the gentle art of duping merchants Salt Lake's "Saturday night forger" seems to have chosen the wide United States as her territory, and seems, too, to be making good. It has just been learned that she bobbed up in Denver a week ago Saturday, and using the same methods practiced in Salt Lake on the previous Saturday night, succeeded in fleecing 16 merchants.

The forger, described as pretty, and dressed in smart fashion, has developed a system of her own. In Salt Lake she impersonated Miss Lilly M. Lewis, giving the correct address of the latter, and passed off seven checks all for the amount of $14.50 and drawn in favor of Miss Lilly M. Lewis by the Utah Mining Machinery & Supply company. The checks were all cashed at stores during late Saturday afternoon, thereby purchasing of linens, stockings, shoes and other articles being made.

The fair crook followed the same plan in Denver. She began her work late Saturday afternoon, using the identity of a Miss Fannie Morgan, a stenographer, and in the 16 reported victims of her cleverness, the check in each case was for $14.50.

So far neither the Salt Lake nor the Denver police have been able to secure a clue to the whereabouts of the "Saturday night crook," and they are now wondering where she operated last Saturday night.

FUNERAL OF WALTER SCOTT.
Impressive Service Conducted in Masonic Temple Yesterday.

Beautiful and impressive were the funeral services of Walter Scott, at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon. The services were held at 2:30 and were conducted by Wasatch lodge No. 1, of which the deceased was a member at the time of his death. He was past grand master of the order and was well known. Many members of other lodges attended the services and followed the remains to the grave.

Rev. S. H. Goodwin of Provo and master of Wasatch lodge, A. C. Wherry presided at the services. The pall bearers were: J. D. Gallagher, David Keith, Henry Newell, A. E. Hutchison, A. R. Heywood, A. J. Love, James H. Brown acted as grand marshal.

From 1874 to the time of his death in this city on July 28, Mr. Scott was closely identified with the Masonic order and his career in the same was a most honorable one. He held many responsible positions in the various lodges and took a most active part in all that pertained to the welfare of the order.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BAILEY.
The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey, who died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah A. Lemon, was held yesterday at 4 o'clock at the Fourth ward meetinghouse and was largely attended. The services were most impressive. The speakers dwelt upon the noble character of the deceased and the honest work she did for the cause of truth. Mrs. Bailey was born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, Feb. 11, 1839, and came here in Bishop Smith's company, in 1852. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. M. M. Clive and Mrs. Lemon, and one son, John H. Bailey.

SLAUGHTER HOUSES MUST BE INSPECTED

New Ordinance is Effective Today—Five Establishments Affected In This City.

Five slaughtering plants in this city are affected by Salt Lake City's new meat ordinance, which goes into effect today. One of the plants, the Utah Packing company, is already under government or city inspection, and must bear either the government or the city's stamp. Veal slaughtered within one mile of the city limits will have to bear the government or the city stamp, and veal slaughtered outside of the jurisdiction of the city pure food authorities will have to bear a certificate from the original slaughterer to the effect that they are pure.

One provision of the new ordinance requires the establishment and maintenance of slaughtering houses along absolutely sanitary lines. The tools used must be kept clean and properly used, all blood must be disposed of so that no offensive odors shall remain. Unhealthy animals must not be slaughtered, and the floors of slaughter houses must be of cement or some other impervious material of non-absorbent character. The walls must be clean and the employees must be clean down to their shoes. The plans and specifications for slaughter houses must be first passed upon by the city board of health and then approved by the city council.

The ordinance provides for the employment of a chief inspector, whose salary shall be $1,500 per year, and of deputies to the number deemed necessary by the chief inspector and the council. The salary for the deputies is placed at $30 per month. Both the chief inspector and all deputies must be veterinarians.

It is understood most of the slaughter houses affected are in good condition. The ordinance is modeled after the government pure-food standards, is of far-reaching effect, and will mean much for the health of the people of this city if properly enforced.
